Photoshop in a nutshell You can't use Photoshop without a mouse or trackpad. While a mouse is necessary to change settings, drag, and perform many other functions, you can use Photoshop just fine without one. Some functions are easier to use with the mouse, like moving and resizing pixels on an image, so I suggest giving that a try for the first few lessons. You can always use the keyboard and

Hydrogen peroxide impairs LPS-induced proinflammatory cytokine production in microglial cells via a NOX-independent mechanism. Neuroinflammation plays a critical role in the pathogenesis of Parkinson's disease (PD). In particular, microglia, the resident immune cells of the central nervous system, can release toxic amounts of proinflammatory cytokines, including tumor necrosis factor-alpha (TNF-α) and interleukin-6 (IL-6), after exposure to various pathological stimuli, thereby contributing to dopaminergic neuron degeneration in PD. Hydrogen peroxide (H_2O_2) is an important reactive oxygen species (ROS) produced in a number of tissues during ischemia reperfusion injury and during oxidative stress. Recent studies have demonstrated the production of ROS by activated microglia in the pathogenesis of PD. H_2O_2 induces several cellular signaling events, including nuclear factor-kappa B (NF-κB) activation and c-Jun N-terminal kinase (JNK) activation in macrophages, and these events were previously reported to be involved in microglia activation. However, it is still unclear whether H_2O_2 induces proinflammatory cytokine production in microglia, and if so, how it functions in microglia activation. Therefore, we investigated the expression of TNF-α and IL-6 and the inflammatory mediators, interleukin-1beta (IL-1β) and cyclooxygenase-2 (COX-2), in lipopolysaccharide (LPS)-induced BV2 microglia after the addition of H_2O_2. Both H_2O_2 and LPS stimulated production of cytokines, IL-1β, COX-2, and TNF-α, in a dose- and time-dependent manner. Treatment with H_2O_2 alone or LPS in combination significantly increased the production of TNF-α and IL-6, while blocking the production of IL-1β with an IL-1 receptor antagonist (IL-1ra) did not attenuate the expression of TNF-α and IL-6 induced by H_2O_2 plus LPS, suggesting that IL-1β is not involved in cytokine expression. Furthermore, we found that a NOX inhibitor, apocynin, did not block the expression of TNF-α and IL-6 induced by H_2O_2 plus LPS
